“Queen of the Manor”

The place really took me by surprise. Off a busy road and down a cyprus-lined path, through the gate was a villa that wowed me. The red and yellow color, the horeshoe shape, the manicured gardens... So far so good. I'm a skeptic, especially about restored villas, so I needed to see inside. My room was decorated with extreme care, and the interior was well thought out, from the terazzo floors to the drapes and bedspreads. The bathroom was a novelty: they decided to use old-fashioned ( yet new) fixtures, and my toilet flushed with a chain! The view overlooking the park is a feast for the eyes, and speaking of feast... my dinner was sublime, washed down with the "house" wine... made by the in-house winery. I'm so glad I saw the little church inside, it was a step back in history. Well done, and here's hoping this amazing restoration is a success for you.
